01 — THE BRAND

Our Story

Get Saucy is craft hot sauce from Asheville, North Carolina, built on one belief: hot sauce should taste like something — not just burn. So we grow our own peppers, roast and balance every batch by hand, and bottle in small runs. Scotch bonnet, ghost, reaper, habanero — heat with a backbone.

But the sauce is only half the story. Every flavor is a collaboration with a local artist, who designs original art for the label. Buy a bottle, support the scene. Our breakout, Strabanero — strawberry and habanero — wears artwork by @mossy.tats. That's the whole idea: supporting local artists through hot sauce, one bottle at a time.

We ship nationwide, and we cook, too — the chef behind the sauce takes private-dinner bookings, bringing Get Saucy straight to the table.

Placeholders to confirm: founder name & bio · the first-batch origin moment · year founded · full flavor list & real names (only Strabanero is verified) · private-chef details & service area.

02 — NORTH STAR

Mission & Positioning

Mission

Make small-batch craft hot sauce that earns its

Vision

A world where "spicy" never means "one-place at the table — bold, balanced, garden-grown — and lift up local artists with every label we print.

note," where a bottle of sauce can also be a piece of art and a hand extended to a local maker.

Positioning

For flavor-driven home cooks and hosts who think most hot sauce is all heat and no soul, Get Saucy is small-batch, garden-grown craft hot sauce from Asheville — every flavor wrapped in original art by a local artist. Unlike mass-market bottles built for shock value and shelf life, Get Saucy is built for taste first, community always.

03 — WHO IT'S FOR

Audience

The Flavor Chaser

Owns more hot sauces than spoons. Reads labels for fun. Pays extra for the bottle that does something the others can't.

The Art & Local Supporter

Loves craft, loves the scene. The artist-collab labels are the hook; the flavor makes them stay.

The Gifter

Hunts for the thing nobody else has. Buys the set for the foodie who has everything — keeps a bottle for themselves.

The Host

Throws the dinners people angle to get invited to. Books the private chef, leaves with a new favorite bottle.

04 — HOW WE SOUND

Voice & Tone

Get Saucy talks bold, a little cheeky, deeply serious about flavor and never precious about it. Confident, never cocky. Witty, never goofy. We let the craft do the bragging.

Bold, not bullying. Strong claims, backed by flavor — not macho pain-dares.

"Heat that shows up with a flavor, not just a fire alarm."

Witty, not gimmicky. Earn the smile, then get out of the way.

"Pours like trouble. Tastes like you meant to do that."

Craft-but-accessible. Talk technique like a friend at the stove, never snobbery.

"Roasted, not rushed. You'll taste it before you feel it."

Community-minded. The artists and the scene are part of the brag.

"A local artist on every label. Join the journey."

Taglines

"Join the journey." — primary

Bottled heat, wrapped in art.

Heat with purpose.

A local artist on every label.

Craft sauce. Community first.

Logo

The mark is a bubble-graffiti GET SAUCY wordmark in gold on a teal disc, with a single sauce drip — street-art energy, craft heart. Use the disc version as the primary mark (avatar, favicon, label seal). Give it room to breathe; never stretch or recolor the gold.

Note: This is a clean digital recreation of the real graffiti mark for web/favicon use. For print/labels, keep the original hand-drawn artist version as the hero lockup.

Color

Charcoal #16100C	Teal #17A8B0	Gold #FFD23F	Saucy Red #D6342B	Ember #F2960C

Charcoal grounds everything. Teal is the signature (logo disc, accents). Gold is the wordmark & highlights. Saucy Red and Ember carry the heat — buttons, hot-tier cues. Garden green (#7FB23A) is a supporting accent for fresh/mild and produce.

Typography

Archivo

Black

Display & headlines — loud, unmissable, label-ready.

Pacifico

Script accent — the "Saucy" signature. Use sparingly.

Inter — body copy

Clean, legible body & UI. Weights 400–800.

Pairing rule

One display, one accent, one body. Never two scripts. Let the art labels be the loud thing.

Packaging & Photography

Packaging

- Classic woozy bottle, clear glass — let the sauce color sell itself.
- Original artist label per flavor; credit the artist on the back.
- Consistent front-of-bottle heat meter (1–5 peppers).
- Black tamper cap; gold "GET SAUCY" graffiti mark recurring across the family.

Photography

- Sauce is the hero — warm light, charcoal/teal backdrops, a deliberate drip.
- Real food, mid-action: the pour, the dunk, the glistening wing.
- Garden & harvest shots — peppers on the plant, in the colander.
- Hands at work: roasting, bottling, plating. Show the craft.
- Lifestyle = the table: candlelight, full plates, people leaning in.
